

Every row runs on matched episodes against the dense reference under fused attention, on every backbone and environment of the grid. Repeat is drawn at $k = 2$ and fusion with a keyframe every third step only to show the pattern. A candidate is positive if latency falls, its own signal cost included, or success rises, with the other within a margin.